Epilog

Now I am sitting in a nice hotel room, drinking my cup of coffee and writing the last lines of this story. In a few moments I am going to visit some flats in Killarny. I think I will buy one, but only in house were cats are forbidden.

Steven will come with me, he should have arrived 10 minutes ago, so I think it will take 10 more minutes until we can go.

He said I should buy a big flat with enough space for the children. He didn't answer my question what for children he was talking about.

THE END!!!
